

Nicholas J. Cirilli is 'Engineer of the Year'

Nicholas J. Cirilli, of Wallingford, Nether Providence, recently was selected as the 1991 Engineer of the Year by the Delaware County Chapter, Pennsylvania Society of Professional Engineers.

The award is presented annually to an engineer who is outstanding in his field, in his service to his profession and in his community service. The award will be presented to Cirilli Wednesday, Feb. 20, at the Engineers Week Banquet at the Towne House restaurant, Veterans Square and Baltimore Pike, Media.

Cirilli, a graduate of Pennsylvania State University with a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering, earned a master of science degree in structural engineering at Widener University.

NICHOLAS J. CIRILLI

He holds professional engineering registration in four states with additional registrations in surveying, sewage enforcement, sewage treatment operation and contracting.

He has been employed by Catania Associates, B.P. Oil and Henkels & McCoy and currently is president of Cirilli Associates, Glen Mills.

Cirilli serves on the Nether Providence Environmental Advisory Committee and is the alternate township engineer for Nether Providence.

He is a soccer coach for the Nether Providence Athletic Association and also participates in the adult recreational basketball program of St. John Chrysostom Catholic Church.

Cirilli and his wife, Mary Ellen, formerly of Drexel Hill, Upper Darby, have four children, Maura, Eileen, Susan and Kevin.